

What do we need to do?

Our Privacy Compliance Program:

The Australia Post Privacy Compliance Program is endorsed by the Executive Management Team and the Managing Director.

The Enterprise Privacy Compliance Program requires that we:

- ✓ adhere to the Group Privacy policy
- ✓ ensure management accountability
- ✓ train our staff every two years via the Online Compliance Training or (where online training is not practicable) via the Australia Post Privacy Training Guide, and
- ✓ monitor compliance across the Group.

Our goal

It is vital that we factor privacy into all of our customer interactions, policy development and product or service design. We can do this by treating personal information with respect and protecting the confidentiality and general privacy rights of all our stakeholders (including APG) employees, contractors, licensees, customers, and suppliers).

Do you collect, use, share and/or store personal information obtained through your role?

Review the policy to find out how personal information is protected at work.

Check out the Corporate Intranet site for further resources and guidance or email privacy@auspost.com.au

How does it make you feel when someone unnecessarily asks for your address?
You probably wouldn't give it to them... and it should be the same at work.

If you don't protect personal information, there could be consequences...

Disciplinary action for breaching this policy or causing a security breach will be as appropriate, up to and including termination or possible criminal/civil charges. Where required, breaches will be reported to the external regulators by Enterprise Risk & Compliance, in conjunction with Legal.
